Dear Sir or Madam,

Re: Application 16918/18 van der Westhuizen v United Kingdom - [sic] (inadmissible)

Thank you for your 3rd August 2018 reply to my 18th July 2018 follow-up letter.

My letter was not an appeal. It was an opportunity for the ECHR to do its work correctly.

It 's patently obvious that in this very serious matter I (i) never received a fair and independent/jury hearing – including from the ECHR's decision making process - as the seriousness demands, and (ii) was never given the opportunity to cross-examine my accuser: Mrs. Elizabeth Battenberg (alias queen), who is a convicted criminal and still has other very serious accusations to answer for forjustice.net/challenge.

Please watch '(Judge) Jeanine Pirro Rips Christine Ford A New One - Opening Statement¹' (396,000+ hits on that channel alone) for the basic requirements for justice to be served, which are common to most legal systems, which includes the above two fundamental points?

Or is the ECHR deliberately helping to prop up Britain's lucrative offshore business that depends on the confidence in its legal system - 'not rocking the boat'? There's billions at stake. See 'The Spider's Web: Britain's Second Empire' by Michael Oswald².

If so the ECHR should declare it's compromised and biased position in this instance, instead of pretending to impartially deliver human rights when it's obvious that it doesn't: delivering rights to a select few rich instead: perpetuating the fraud of the British legal system.

Please do the work properly or at least declare the conflict of interest.

Yours sincerely,

Philip Arundel van der Westhuizen. Philip@
